Washington Eyes Steel Price Hike

Inland May Start Chain Reaction

Biggest Firms Hold Off Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inland Steel Co. of Chicago boosted its prices for strip and sheet metal by $2 to $3 a ton Tuesday and top White House officials immediately huddled to study the situation.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, summoned other officials for a strategy session shortly after Inland's announcement — which apparently caught the administration by surprise.

Asked later about the meeting, Ackley said the council is "studying" the situation but did not comment further.

'MODERATE' INCREASE

Inland Chairman Joseph L. Block announced the price increase — described by company officials as "moderate" — at the end of the business day. It was not immediately clear whether other big steel producers would follow Inland's lead.

In Pittsburgh Tuesday night, U.S. Steel officials said they had no comment.

Block, asked if Inland would roll back its price increase if their firms didn't follow suit, said "we will have to."

Sheet and strip metal account for roughly 30 per cent of the industry's total output. If other firms match Inland's increase, it would amount to the widest industry boost since 1963.

Earlier this year Inland became involved in a major clash between the industry and the Johnson administration prompted by Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s New Year's Eve announcement of a $5 a ton increase for structural steel.

Inland went along with the boost a few days later but after U.S. Steel — under heavy administration pressure — announced only a $2.74 increase, both Inland and Bethlehem backed down. The compromise, described by Johnson as within his wage-price guidelines, set off a stock market surge.

Inland played a different role in the 1962 steel industry battle with the John F. Kennedy administration when it refused to follow a general price increase initiated by U.S. Steel — the No. 1 producer. Kennedy forced the NOVEMBER FOES: Yesterday's primary results indicate State Rep. Floyd Mattheussen, Benton township Democrat (left), faces stiff challenge in November from Republican challenger Lionel Stacey (right). Both won nominations unopposed but Stacey outpolled Mattheussen in light vote.

Hot Mattheussen, Stacey Race Looms

Area Voter Turnout Is Very Light In Primary

Democratic State Representative Floyd Mattheussen and his Republican opponent in November's general election for the 44th district seat, Lionel Stacey, idled across the starting line of an anticipated wing ding campaign yesterday.

They were unopposed for the nomination of their respective parties in the primary. If the very light vote count in the two uncontested party warmups can be interpreted to mean anything, it might suggest a tight race between the two men in November. Stacey pulled 1,399 GOP votes and Mattheussen got 1,218 from Democratic voters.

The extremely light turnout of voters prevailed through the entire area, largely because there were very few primary contests. In Berrien county, a total of only 13,243 persons cast ballots. This represents only about 17 percent of the 75,000 registered voters in the county.

CONGRESS OPPONENTS
U.S. Congressman Edward Hutchinson, R-Fennville, and John Martin, Hillsdale Democrat, went through the motions uncontested yesterday to get their parties' nominations for the Fourth district race in November. An incomplete count from 251 out of the 275 precincts in the seven-county district showed 22,213 votes cast for Hutchinson and 8,918 for Martin.

Unofficial returns from the seven counties were showing Hutchinson's count first: Berrien, 6,107 to 2,743; Allegan, 5,563 to 1,555; Van Buren, 2,818 to 1,297; Cass, 1,530 to 985; Branch, 1,670 to 768; St. Joseph, 2,330 to 904; Hillsdale (19 out of 25 precincts), 2,195 to 666.

Governor Plans Big Campaign

Democrat Ferency Has Poor Total

By DICK BARNES
DETROIT (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney won re-nomination to a third term without opposition Tuesday—but the major surprise of the gubernatorial primary was the slim vote polled by unopposed Democratic candidate Zolton Ferency.

While the heated Democratic U.S. Senate race pulled nearly twice as many voters to the Democratic primary as the Republican, Romney still outpolled Ferency in what was only a popularity contest.

Many voters in the Democratic primary didn't even give Ferency—the party's state chairman—a courtesy vote.

With 5,192 of 5,315 precincts reporting, Romney had 416,754 votes and Ferency had 364,890.

FERENCY LAGS
The Ferency total was barely more than half that polled by the two Democratic senatorial candidates — G. Mennen Williams and Jerome P. Cavanagh. Some of the Cavanagh total apparently came from Republicans and independents unwilling to vote for Ferency.

Even in heavily Democratic Wayne County, Ferency could not manage even a 2-to-1 edge over Romney even though more than four times as many Democrats as Republicans voted in the primary.

The results pinpoint Ferency's major problem—identification. He has been touring the state in a campaign bus for weeks, and is expected to follow the pattern right through the Nov. 8 election.

Lansing Integration Idea Hit

Whites Object — So Do Negroes

LANSING (AP) — White and Negro parents are objecting to proposals aimed at bringing racial balance to Lansing high schools by transferring Negro and white students by bus.

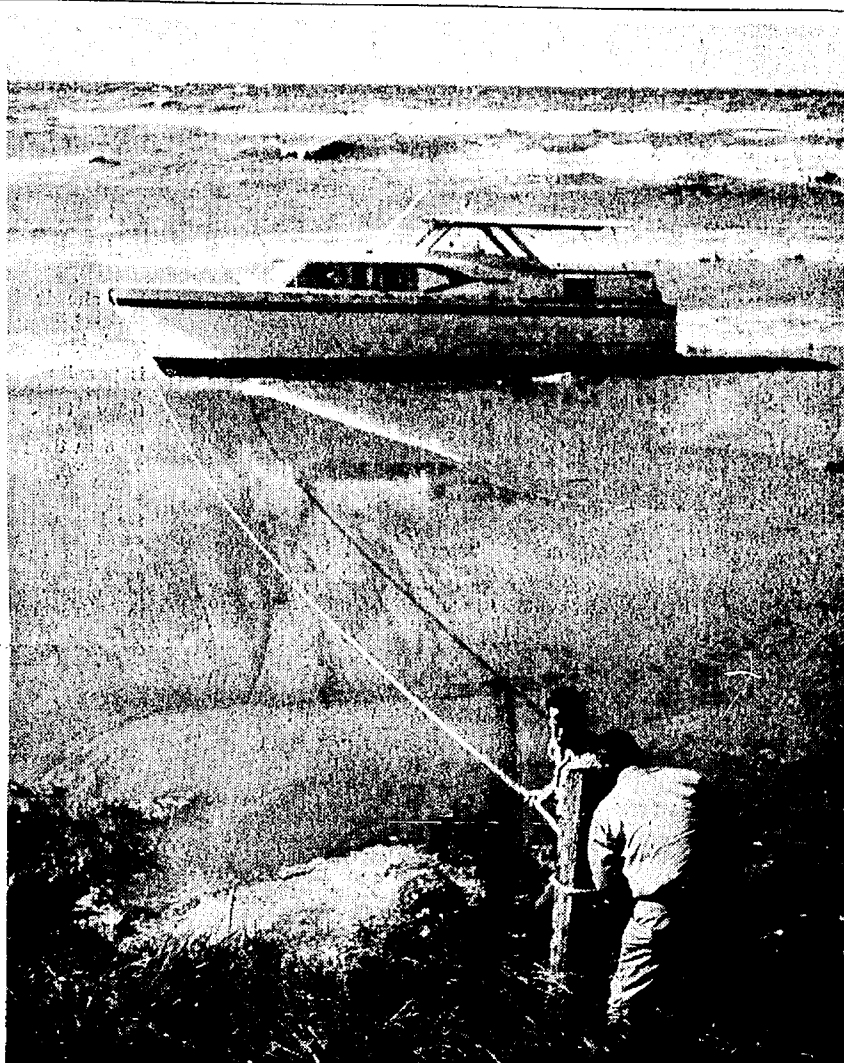

Cornelius Pettit, chairman of the Colonial Village-Eton Downs Citizens Committee, said his group has collected 2,000 signatures on petitions requesting a delay in any decision on bus transfer plans.

The board of education has proposed transporting Negro students at Sexton High School to Everett and Eastern high schools, and taking white students from Everett and Eastern to Sexton.

Pettit said the group also is forming a citywide organization to fight the transfer plan.

J. C. Williams, a Negro and coordinator of the Grass Roots Citizens Committee, said Negro parents and students are against the bus transfer plan, too.

"If we used the money that's wasted for buses properly, we could give our teachers more adequate salaries," he said. He said his committee made a house-to-house survey and found Negro parents against the bus transfer plan.

GROUNDY YACHT SECURED: Chief Robert Chastain and Engineman First Class William Leville of the Michigan City Coast Guard station finish tying a heavy rope to a 48-foot cabin cruiser that ran aground at Beverly Shores, Ind., four miles west of Michigan City at 3:30 p.m. yesterday. A tug was to pull the cruiser loose when the waters of the lake calmed. Ken Ashworth of Chicago was delivering the boat from Holland, Mich., to a Chicago dealer when he said both motors conked out ten miles from Chicago. He said currents carried the boat 30 miles eastward to a point off Michigan City where he was spotted by a Coast Guard plane that was searching for him along with boats from Michigan City and St. Joseph stations. However, Ashworth remarked that he strayed too close to the shore and the big waves precariously washed in the boat. (Staff photo)

IT'S A CLARK'S GAZELLE

Please, Senator! Don't Drown That Dibatat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Michigan animal importer has appealed to Michigan congressmen to help save 54 animals—one of them a rare specimen valued at $10,000—from being dumped into the ocean.

Bryan Hunt of Detroit, vice president of International Animal Exchange, said the U.S. Agriculture Department ruled the animals will not be admitted to this country because the ship on which they are being transported stopped at unauthorized ports.

Hunt's firm owns 20 of the animals. He valued them at $60,000.

One beast, a dibatat or Clark's Gazelle, "is the only animal of its species in captivity today. It's only been in captivity one other time in history," Hunt said.

He said he appealed to Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., and Rep. William Broomfield, R-Mich., for help in saving the animals. Hunt said the shipper sees no alternative to dumping the animals into the ocean.

Importation permits had been issued for 47 of the 54 animals and they were quarantined for the required 60 days in Mombasa, Kenya. The seven other animals also were quarantined, but the necessary paper work was not completed, said Hunt.

DISEASE?
Claude Smith, an Agriculture Department veterinarian, said the animals would not be admitted because of the possibility some may have contacted foot-and-mouth disease or rinderpest at unauthorized stops in Africa.

The ship, the "Massloyd" also stopped in Spain and Portugal.

Hunt said there was very little chance that the animals could have acquired diseases in any of the ports. He added that International Animal Exchange for years has transported animals along the same route, with ships stopping at ports of call identical with the ports on this voyage.

Owners of the ship were quoted as saying they could not afford to transport the animals back to Africa.

The 54 animals were destined for zoos in Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio; Milwaukee, Minn.; Portland, Ore.; Denver; San Francisco; Omaha; Boston; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; Washington, D.C.; San Antonio, Tex., and Chicago.

Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said he had contacted Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, asking him to intervene to stop destruction of the animals, including giraffes, gazelles and hartebeests.

Cavanagh Trowned By Soapy

State Dems Expect White House Help

By GENE SCHROEDER
DETROIT (AP) — Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams handed Jerome Cavanagh the thrashing of his young political life Tuesday and then invited the Detroit mayor to join in an attempt to unseat Republican Sen. Robert Griffin.

With the combined backing of most of Michigan's Democratic organization and nearly all of its labor leaders, Williams forged a 144,000-plus victory margin in the bitterly contested Democratic primary.

The former six-term governor rolled up a commanding lead in Cavanagh's hometown of Detroit and clobbered him in most outstate counties.

Williams, 55, who returned to Michigan's political scene after five years as an assistant secretary of state, is a staunch supporter of President Johnson's administration and generally approves of the conduct of the war in Viet Nam. Cavanagh, 38, criticized some of Johnson's Viet Nam and economic policies.

Even before Cavanagh conceded defeat, Griffin dropped in at the mayor's campaign headquarters to seek his support. He did not see Cavanagh.

"I invite all of Mayor Cavanagh's supporters to join with us in making sure that there will be representation for Michigan in the Senate that is above partisanship and beyond the reach of boss control," Griffin said.

Griffin, 44, was appointed by Republican Gov. George Romney to fill the vacancy left by

Was Great Day For Sen. Brown

Wins In Court, And In Primary

MASON (AP) — A justice of the peace dismissed Tuesday a drunken driving charge against Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, who had pleaded guilty to an earlier drunken driving charge in Lansing.

Brown won nomination for reelection in Tuesday's primary, 8,391 to 4,693.

Justice Roy Adams said he dismissed the complaint on the recommendation of Ingham County Prosecutor Donald Reisig and with the assent of the State Police officer who arrested Brown June 2.

Brown paid an $80 fine and costs on the first drunken driving charge and publicly announced he was surrendering his driver's license and selling his car.

Later, Reisig recommended dismissal of the second charge and said he was subjected to heavy criticism for it.

"I realized my actions would be subject to criticism," Reisig said at the time, "but I felt the decision was equitable in this case. I have done the same thing for a truck driver."

Hunger Needs Twin Attack

In the past year or so, there has been increasing discussion of a coming world crisis, a crisis of exploding world population and mass starvation. Forecasts of approaching disaster are based on a world population trend which, if it persists, will result in a world population of some 7.5 billion by the year 2000, more than double what it is today. To Dr. Irone B. Tauber, senior research demographer at Princeton University's Office of Population Research, the increase "is so awesome as to seem unreal."

The crisis has already begun in underdeveloped countries where poverty, hunger and illiteracy have always existed. According to population experts, the increase is coming, not because of a rapid rise in birthrates, but because of a decline in the death rate. This change in world mortality is accentuated, says Dr. Tauber, "...by the generally large population bases which exist in the less-developed countries," and results in "very large increases in masses or numbers of new inhabitants annually."

What is more, the population explosion is occurring in countries least able to feed their citizens and is growing faster than agricultural production in many parts of the world. "The size of the problem," says Dr. Roger Revelle, director of population studies, Harvard University, "is this: in the underdeveloped world about 650 million tons of food are produced; to meet the population increase we are going to have to increase food production in the less-developed countries by 300 million tons (in the next 15 years). This is almost a 50 per cent increase, even if we maintain present levels of nutrition."

Demographers and agricultural specialists believe the only way famine can be averted is to increase agricultural productivity and decrease human fertility. Says Dr. Raymond Ewell, vice president of research at State University of New York, "Birth control alone can't do the job. Improved agriculture alone can't do the job. Both approaches will have to be used, and used on a massive scale."

To avert famine, the United States is being urged to lead a "World War on Hunger." Legislation has already been proposed to help provide food and fiber for the free world, by increasing U.S. agricultural production, offering more technical assistance to stimulate agricultural production in underdeveloped countries and giving special assistance to those countries wanting help with birth control programs.

On the U. S. agricultural front, the program would reverse the policy of curbing American farm production and thus, put back into production acres of now "forbidden" agricultural lands. The criteria for making food shipments abroad would be shifted from "surplus" to "available" commodities.

Congress is being asked to appropriate $6.6 billion to finance the first two years of the hunger war. This is in addition to the billions of dollars in all other economic, military and foreign aid programs the U. S. funnels annually into underdeveloped countries of the world.

While the U. S. has the resources, the ability and the humanitarian desire to help other countries prevent an oncoming famine, it will be up to the individual nations to solve their own population and agricultural problems. Americans can pour in food, advisors, fertilizers, pesticides, equipment and birth control pills, but, unless leaders of underdeveloped countries take the initiative to realistically face their "life or death" plight with workable solutions, American goodwill may one day be washed out in a tide of disaster. The American economy and the economies of other developed countries could not feed a world of 7.5 billion people.

Doing The Right Thing

One has to give Daytona Beach, Fla., credit for doing the right thing, even if it may be for the wrong reason.

Daytona Beach is the community where college students have been congregating during holidays to drink beer, revel on the beach, and get together with members of the opposite sex.

Consequently, the citizens have begun to worry about their image. They feel their city is getting a reputation as a center of "sex, sand and suds."

So they're doing something about it. They've raised $170,000 and are using it to bring the London Symphony Orchestra to Daytona Beach for a series of 16 concerts. Members of the orchestra also will teach courses at nearby Stetson University School of Music.

Backers of the undertaking aren't very hopeful that the community's image really will be changed; but they think the concerts at least ought to show Daytona Beach's own teenagers there is more to life than sunning on the beach, drinking beer and necking.

One shouldn't knock what Daytona Beach is doing. It cannot help but benefit from having the London Symphony around for a while. One wishes the citizens were doing it because they love good music and want to enrich the community's life culturally, and not merely because they're worried about their image.

Maybe in future years Daytona Beach will invite the symphony back again, and for the right reasons.

Wild And Woolly

The many viewers of Westerns on TV may find this hard to believe. The fact is, nevertheless, that there were people who lived in the Old West all their lives and never saw a man shot dead, not even a bad guy.

The law was not firmly established, at first, in the wide open spaces. Guns were carried for protection against wild animals and wild men. It was a rough time, but the Wild West saw fewer deaths than are depicted on television today.

In Dodge City or Deadwood or Tombstone in their rip-roaringest days there were hardly more than seven men a year that died of gunshot and knife wounds, despite the inadequacy of available medical treatment. That's frequently less than one day's toll on television.

If the West had been as dangerous as video viewers see it, American history would tell a far different story. The winning of the West would have been slowed to the point that the adventure minded of this generation could get into the act.

Belated Appeal

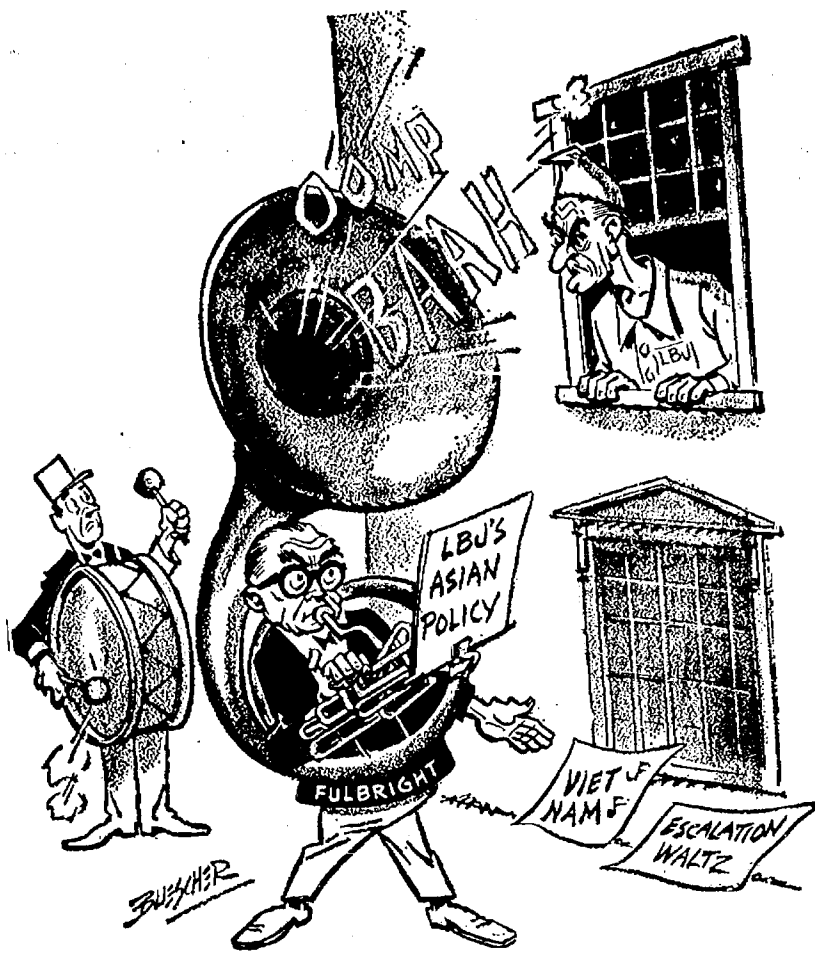

President Johnson has happily announced the deficit for the 1965-66 fiscal year as only $2.3 billion, and not the $6.4 billion administration officials predicted six months ago. The President said he was "very proud of this," a fiscal achievement made possible by tax collections which were in excess of White House estimates.

About the outlook for the current fiscal year, Johnson seems not so cheerful. What he calls "add-ons," in the relatively few appropriation bills Congress has voted thus far, have already overshot his 1966-67 budget by nearly $1 billion.

Furthermore, budget statisticians tell him that when the present congressional spending spree subsides, the "add-ons" may climb to $6 billion. This Johnson complained, would take this year's federal spending close to $120 billion without any supplementary funds for the Viet Nam war.

Johnson's case for Congressional restraint in spending would have been more effective if he had exercised restraint in his own budget. But his $113 billion request for fiscal 1966-67, the largest in the nation's history, in peace or war, certainly gives him no firm position from which to argue with Congress about frugality.

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

Can the sinuses become infected during the summertime? Does high altitude affect the sinuses?

Bacteria have no particular respect for the time of the year or any geographic area. The lining of the sinuses is a thin delicate membrane. When this becomes inflamed because of infection or an allergy it becomes more susceptible to further infection.

This may be followed by a collection of fluid or pus within the sinuses causing difficulty in breathing, pressure pains and headache.

Sufferers from chronic sinus infections undoubtedly seem to be better during warm weather and in hot dry climate. Yet infections of the sinuses do occur in the desert, in the summer, in the mountains, in the fall.

In very high altitudes the air which normally is contained in the sinuses expands and can produce unbearable pain if the normal openings to the sinuses are blocked. In the absence of infection or severe allergy high altitude alone should not be responsible for any flare-up of sinus infection.

What drugs can be dangerous to drivers of automobiles on long journeys?

Many people have peculiar reactions to drugs. All physicians are constantly surprised to learn that patients can be stimulated by drugs that are meant to be relaxing. The reverse can also occur.

The tolerance to a drug is an individual one. Some people attain the desired effect with small doses, others need much larger quantities.

Whenever a new drug is taken for the first time it is wise to note the reaction to it. If any unexpected reaction follows it should be stopped until reported to the physician.

For these reasons driving an automobile after having taken any new drug can be a potential hazard. Alcohol is the single drug most responsible for auto injuries and fatalities.

Anti-allergy drugs are known to make most people drowsy. Sleeping pills, with or without barbiturates, can, even after a number of hours, cause diminished reflexes and lead to tragedies.

Combinations of drugs like alcohol and tranquilizers are especially precarious. Drugs for motion sickness often produce a distinct feeling of drowsiness.

A group of drugs called the amphetamines are too commonly used as diet and pep pills. These can be particularly dangerous to drivers because it gives them the false sense of security that they cannot fall asleep while driving.

Blurring of vision can, of course, be caused by some type of drops in the eyes. Before taking any long, strenuous drive the drug "fatigue" must be avoided.

BORN TODAY

Until the advent of rock and roll which, in the late 1950's, undercut his popularity, Tony Bennett had been one of America's leading popular music vocalists. His warmth, relaxation, sincerity and diction had moved him rapidly to the top and kept him there since 1951. Then rock and roll dethroned him.

Born in Long Island City in 1926, Bennett grew up during the Depression in a deprived household — his father died in 1934 and his mother worked as a seamstress. During World War II he served as an infantryman, singing with various military bands in off hours. Out of the service, he studied voice, earning his livelihood as an elevator operator and playing nightclub dates.

not the four, because his only certain entry to dummy lies in clubs. He then cashes the queen of clubs and crosses to dummy by playing the four to the six.

Now that South is in dummy he must be extremely careful of what he does next if he is to make the contract. He must try to arrange successful finesses in both spades and hearts in the course of his visit to dummy.

Obviously, he cannot take the heart finesse first, because he would wind up in the wrong hand even if the finesse succeeded. He therefore takes the spade finesse first.

But in doing so he must be sure to lead the queen of spades from dummy, not the nine or ten. If East makes the best defensive play of ducking the queen, South plays his jack on it. South then continues with the ten, playing low if East plays low, and is then in a position to abandon the suit and take a heart finesse, which luckily succeeds.

Note that if East covers the queen or ten of spades when they are led, South is able to return to dummy with a spade and then attempt the heart finesse. In effect, even though South has only one entry to dummy, he is able to arrange his play so that he can, if necessary, lead three times from dummy.

Scouts' gave him his break, followed by appearances on Jan Murray's "Songs for Sale," a nightclub show with Pearl Bailey, and a nationwide tour with Bob Hope.

His career still in the doldrums in 1962, Bennett recorded, almost by accident, "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," the biggest success of his career. Back on top again, Bennett has since played nightclub dates, made television guest appearances, and entered the concert field with two sold-out Carnegie Hall concerts.

Others born this day include King Haakon of Norway, actress Delores del Rio, composer Richard Adler, industrialist Charles Edison, baseball's Jim Hegam.

Manning Wins Post As Trustee

Old Guard Takes Most Marbles In St. Joe Township

Supervisor Orval Benson staved off a determined effort by a young challenger to win the Republican nomination for supervisor of suburban St. Joseph township in the primary election Tuesday.

Benson's old guard slate of incumbent officers also won the other township board posts, except for one of the trustee spots that fell to a member of the challenging team.

Benson, with his strongest support from the two precincts on the west side of the dividing St. Joseph river, defeated Richard A. Seagrave, a Whirlpool Corp. executive, 558 to 812.

Seagrave managed to gain narrow edges over Benson in the two precincts on the Fairplain (east) side of the river.

Dr. John T. Manning, a Fairplain physician and member of the Seagrave team, cracked the solid lineup of incumbents. He was the top vote-getter among four candidates for two trustee spots.

NO FOES

The winners in yesterday's primary can be considered now as winners in the November general election, since there was no slate offered by the Democrats.

The late Jules L. Spooner, long time constable in the township, was accorded a memorial of 667 votes. He died recently, too late for his name to be withdrawn from the ballots. Four other candidates for the four constable positions, however, all drew larger votes, preventing the necessity of filling a vacancy.

The incumbent clerk and treasurer, Donald S. Maxham and Einar A. Larson, respectively, both won renomination by wider margins than Benson. Maxham defeated Frank Yurcus, Jr., 973 to 706, while Larson beat Truman F. Schrag, Jr., 935 to 777.

BUMPS RESCHKE

In topping the four candidates for trustees, Dr. Manning put Carl L. Reschke, incumbent, off the township's governing body. Incumbent Edwin L. Brink was returned to office. The unofficial tally for the two trustee seats were: Manning 869, Brink 809, Robert H. DeVries 746, and Reschke 731.

Constables elected were: Harold M. Zaban 965; George V. Nichols 883; Donald R. Byers 855; and Walter G. Fisher 846.

Bill P. Smith and S. John DeMeester were elected without opposition to two seats on the township park board.

Benson and Seagrave both were elected, along with Marvin A. Fuller to the three new positions of township committeemen.

Benson this morning issued a statement expressing appreciation to his supporters:

"I certainly feel pleased at the outcome of yesterday's balloting. I want to thank each and every one of our friends who have placed such confidence in myself and in our board. I especially thank all the people who worked so hard to make our success possible.

"I do regret losing Carl Reschke who is one of our most able and hardworking board members. We are aware of the many problems that confront our board and we pledge our continued efforts for the future progress of St. Joseph township."

Vacations Stall Elderly Housing

Federal Office Short On Secretaries --- No Letter

St. Joseph's elderly housing project has been delayed a month because the Public Housing Administration office in Chicago had too many secretaries on vacation to send a letter.

The letter, which is to approve the architects' preliminary drawings of the 15-story building, had not arrived yet Tuesday, C. Thomas Daley reported to the housing commission.

Daley, St. Joseph housing and urban renewal director and secretary of the housing commission, told a meeting of the group he finally became exasperated this week and called the Chicago PHA office.

He said the Chicago official told him that the letter had not been sent because the PHA office had too many secretaries on vacation.

The official gave Daley oral approval of the drawings, and procedures here will continue on the assumption that a letter will be received shortly.

D.J. McGrath and Edward R. Duffield, St. Joseph architects, said they would have been ready to advertise for construction bids by Oct. 1. The delay moves the advertising date back to near the end of October, they said.

Daley and the architects met with PHA technicians June 23 and said they expected the letter of approval soon after, because there were few criticisms of the preliminary drawings.

Daley also announced to the meeting that the St. Joseph project's budget has been increased $108,227 to $1,832,842.

This is the same sum, Daley said, that was requested for the project last spring. The amount added is the same as that cut from the request. Rising construction costs prompted the reinstatement of the funds, he said.

The budget will no doubt need another amendment when the final construction drawings are completed and bids on the job are received, Daley and the architects agreed.

In other discussion, the architects said they have had to trim back the building plans to stay within the budget, but no major alterations have been made or are planned.

Not Enough Time To Try For Millage Again

Municipal belt-tightening looms in Benton township where a proposal for three mills in operating taxes was defeated Tuesday. The margin was close with 540 no votes and 509 yes.

Supervisor Ray Wilder said the township would be able to make ends meet at the current level for this fiscal year. "Drastic curtailments" are likely in the future unless some source of revenue is found.

The township is now without any source of property tax revenue other than the one mill, customarily granted by the county allocation board. The three mills for three years would have replaced 1.5-mill extra operating levy that has expired.

The township board of trustees sought to expand police and fire departments to keep pace with township growth. The nine-member township firemen's local union issued an eleventh hour statement opposing the millage in the only organized sign of opposition.

RAY WILDER
Another Decision Due In November

MARTIN LANE

Wilder said there was no opportunity to present the millage issue again this year. He indicated $43,000 would have to be trimmed from next year's budget, and it "will take a long, hard look" to determine where the trimming will be made.

"It was the first time in many years that all the voters of the township have had a chance to decide on a tax request," Wilder said. The 1.5 mill extra levy formerly was presented at the township annual meeting where perhaps 50-75 residents would vote on it. Court decisions have indicated this method is of dubious legality.

The supervisor thanked supporters of the tax and regretted that the vote was small in view of the issue of township-wide public protection. "It was close but the pendulum just tipped against a tax increase."

The millage carried in only three of the nine precincts — two in Fairplane and one the north shore.

Some 216 of the 1,365 Benton residents who went to the polls neglected to vote on the millage. The turnout represented about 15 per cent of the registration.

Benton taxpayers will notice a slight cut in their taxes next winter with the removal of the 1.5 mill extra operating levy which amounted to $7.50 on a home of $10,000 market value.

PARTY SLATES

The millage question was a non-partisan issue. Partisan politics appeared in the primary election where Republican Wilder received 367 votes to 353 for Democrat Martin Lane. The votes were only complimentary as neither had intra-party opposition for the supervisor nomination.

The Republican slate headed by Wilder will face Lane's ticket in November.

The only state contest in Benton produced a total of 476 Democratic votes — 311 for G. Monnon Williams, 165 for Jerome E. Cavanagh. Republican Gov. George Romney was the pacesetter on both tickets with 391 while Democrat Zolton Ferency received 302.

There was a one Republican local contest with four constable candidates nominated from a field of five. Results: Ralph Robards, 279; Lloyd Butler, 277; Richard Kling, 246; Donald Trux, 226; Troy M. Hill, 212.

Former SJ Man Gets University Position

Dr. Koch Moving To Kentucky

A former St. Joseph man, Dr. William B. Koch, has been appointed as associate professor of physical education at Western Kentucky university, Bowling Green, Ky., the university's president, Dr. Kelly Thompson, announced.

Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Koch of 544 Archer avenue, St. Joseph, will take over his new position Sept. 1 of coordinating the graduate program in physical education; teaching graduate and undergraduate professional courses in the department of health, physical education and recreation; supervising student research and carrying out further basic physiological and psychological research in his specialty areas.

Koch's new department has approximately 500 major undergraduate students and a 30-member faculty.

Koch and his wife, a registered dietitian who will join the WKU faculty as a member of the department of home economics, and their sons Bob, 11, and Jim, 5, have lived in Seguin, Tex., the past five years.

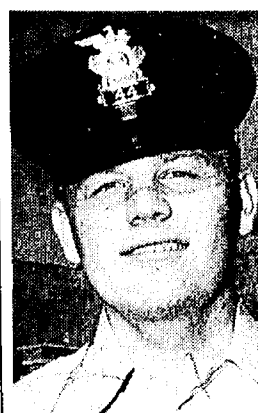

DR. WILLIAM KOCH

Koch served at Texas Lutheran college as chairman of the department of health, physical education and recreation, athletic director and was instrumental in developing a well-balanced academic-athletic program which is well respected in the Southwest.

Dr. Koch received his B.S. degree from Western Michigan university, an A.M. from the University of Michigan and a doctorate from Indiana university.

Joins Police Force In St. Joseph

JOHN KRIEGER

John Krieger, 24, of 803 Wayne street, joined the St. Joseph police force Monday night after riding in squad cars for nearly a month on his vacation.

Announcement of Krieger's hiring was made by Chief Tom Gillespie. Krieger, who served six years in the U.S. Navy Reserve, is married and has a two-year-old daughter.

Before joining the police force, he worked as an IBM operator for All-Phase Electric Supply Co. in Benton Harbor.

Sidewalk Sales For BH Stores

Modern Goods, Old Fashioned Charm

Modern merchandise and 19th century charm will spill out onto the sidewalks in Benton Harbor Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Merchants will observe "Old Fashioned Bargain Days" this week as a prelude to next week's official Centennial celebration. Shopkeepers intend to bring back the bargains of old and stack their goods outdoors.

Stores will be draped in a festive atmosphere with historical window displays and clerks garbed in Centennial attire. Mrs. Lewis Filstrup and the Fort Miami Heritage Society have assisted the merchants in creating authentic displays.

Four Corners may not look exactly like it did 100 years ago, but merchants assure shoppers it will be filled with oldtime hospitality.

TWO DRAW NEAR

Candidate Granke Holds On As Centennial Queen Leader

Sandra Granke this week held her lead in the Benton Harbor Centennial queen contest, but the shadows of Charlotte Hoyh and Connie Nagle came into view.

Charlotte, who made a steady climb from 11th to fourth place last week, now has moved into third position, based on candidates' sales of tickets to the spectacular production, "Chips Fell in the Valley." Connie Nagle held onto second place.

Centennial officials report that 9 p.m. next Monday is the deadline for purchasing tickets at reduced prices from favorite queen candidates. Officials report that after that, tickets may be purchased at full place either at Centennial headquarters, 89 West Main street, Benton Harbor, or at the gate at Filstrup field during the performances.

Other queen standings find Edith Biefield dropping from third to fourth, Marilyn Morel remaining in fifth and Candis Reinhardt remaining in sixth.

OTHER PLACINGS

Berta Ozeran moved from ninth to seventh, Carol Martin slipped from seventh to eighth and Carol Plassman dropped from eighth to ninth. Unchanged are Penny Nowacki, tenth, Norma Brown, 11th, Patricia O'Brien, 12th, Nancy Gibson, 13th, Mary Naffziger, 14th and Judy Crocker, 15th.

Centennial officials report that "Chips Fell in the Valley" will include a cast of more than 350 persons and a stage as large as the football field. Also featured will be a fireworks display with a special salute to industry in pyrotechnics.

VOLKEMA, ROOT BOTH DEFEAT CHALLENGERS

Two Niles Men Win Nominations

SEEKING HOUSE SEAT

LOUIS DROLET
Republican winner

Two Niles men will meet at the polls in November to determine the new state representative from the 42nd legislative district that stretches across parts of three counties. Attorney Charles LaSata was named by the Democratic voters of the district in Tuesday's primary to represent his party, and Druggist Louis Drolet won the Republican nomination. Both overcame opponents in a primary that saw very little intra-party opposition. LaSata, chairman of the Berrien county Democratic committee, won a 1,488 to 1,129 decision over Mrs. Thelma Huston, Democratic treasurer of Cass county.

Drolet, running for office for the first time, narrowly edged out DeForrest Strang, former mayor of Sturgis, for the Republican nomination. The winner collected 2,295 votes, and Strang had 2,242 in the unofficial returns. Drolet and LaSata will butt heads in the Nov. 8 general election over the House seat being vacated by Floyd Wagner of Cass county. Wagner did not seek renomination, which apparently attracted more competition for the job than any other political race in the area. The 42nd district covers Niles city and township in Berrien county, 10 townships in Cass county, and seven townships plus the cities of Sturgis and Three Rivers in St. Joseph county.

Lohman Carries
Allegan, But
It's Not Enough

PAW PAW—Incumbent State Representative Edson V. Root, of Bangor, won his primary race yesterday with former Allegan county representative Ben Lohman, to secure the Republican nomination in the 54th district.

Lohman piled up a small margin of about 500 in his old territory of Allegan county, but Root carried Van Buren county by more than 2,000 votes.

Unofficial totals in Allegan gave Lohman 1,313 votes and Root 791. In Van Buren, Root received 2,566 votes to 513 for Lohman. Unofficial totals were Root, 3,357, and Lohman, 1,826.

The unopposed Democratic candidate, Jules Serbenski of Paw Paw, received an endorsement of 1,323 votes in Van Buren and 578 in Allegan for a total of 1,901.

Root has served continuously in the state legislature for 14 years. Lohman had served 12 years as the Allegan county representative before the reapportionment of the house split Allegan county into two districts.

In their primary campaigns, both men had leaned heavily on their legislative records without attacking each other. Root had stressed that he was working for the agricultural and horticultural people against the urban leg-

Holland's Crew-Cut
Conservative Goes
For Tax Reform

HOLLAND—Incumbent Senator Harold (Hal) Volkema of Holland Tuesday defeated his Republican opponent David Pushaw by an unofficial tally of 4,112 votes to win the nomination for re-election in Michigan's 23rd senatorial district.

Volkema carried a healthy lead in almost all portions of his districts to defeat Pushaw 14,269 to 10,157.

Volkema will be opposed in November to Jay A. Wabeke, who was unopposed yesterday for the Democratic nomination. Wabeke polled an unofficial total of 5,258 votes from the district.

Volkema, who has billed himself as a "crew-cut conservative" and has campaigned this summer on a state tax reform, was the favorite throughout Allegan and Ottawa counties.

In Ottawa county, Pushaw's home ground, Volkema had 8,563 votes as compared to Pushaw's 6,995, and Allegan voters preferred Volkema 3,872 to 2,099.

Volkema carried all but seven of Van Buren's 29 precincts and polled 1,778 votes as compared to Pushaw's 1,025.

Wabeke received 1,193 votes in Van Buren county, 2,533 votes in Ottawa, and 1,497 votes in Allegan.

Yankee Springs township, in Barry county voted Wabeke, 35; Volkema, 56, and Pushaw, 38.

UPSET IN NEW BUFFALO

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION: Members of the South Haven township board Tuesday evening made a special presentation of a framed certificate of appreciation to Charles Overton (third from left) for his 16 years of service on the South Haven Community Hospital Authority board of directors. Overton, who joined the board in 1950 and served as president since 1953, resigned last month. Kinst Loses

Other Township
Results In Berrien

Switching tickets was a mistake veteran New Buffalo township Supervisor Frank Kinst discovered in the primary election.

After winning eight terms as a Democrat, Kinst bolted the ranks to run as a Republican. He ran into opposition from Edward Valvoda, a township trustee, and was defeated for the GOP supervisor nomination. Ironically, no candidate filed on the Democratic ticket assuring Valvoda of election in November.

A former supervisor started on the comeback trail in the only other contested race for nomination to the county board in Berrien county. Atty. Joseph Low of Niles township who left the board to run for prosecutor in 1964, won a Republican primary bout over Leo P. Anderson.

Results from townships in Berrien county with contested races.

NEW BUFFALO

Valvoda polled 218 votes for 133 for Kinst who has not attended a meeting of the county board since February. Incumbent Marie Pitts was nominated for treasurer over Robert Royce, 184 to 182. Candidates without primary opposition were Mrs. Helen Durbin, clerk; John Rohde, Sr., trustee; Paul Oselka and Carl Olson, constables. Indicative of a breakup of township Democrats is the presence of only one candidate Edward Kelly, constable.

NILES

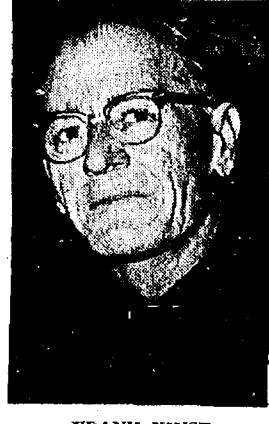

Low garnered 221 votes to 147 for Anderson in the only township GOP race. The supervisor opponent for November is incumbent John McDonald, unopposed on the Democratic ticket. Ellen Kubiak had a clear field for Democratic nomination as clerk, but there were battles the rest of the way down the party line. Karen Wise was nominated for treasurer over Calvin E. Cheesebrough, 169 to 134. Winning berths on the ticket as trustee nominees were Lester Hartman, 263, and George Wyburn, 168. James C. Adams trailed with 154.

There was a five-way race for four constable spots: Henry Wickler, 220; Percy Bosler Jr., 211; James W. Hummel, 192; Raymond Shank, 189; Laurence Galaske, 180.

Unopposed Republicans: Arthur Mould, clerk; Clayton Fausch, treasurer; Bernard Green and Donald Shook, trustee.

WEESAW

They'll draw straws to determine a Republican constable nominee. The dead heat was between Stanley Wolkins and Richard Narregan each with 108 votes. The drawing does not preclude the possibility of a recount or one of the candidates declining to run. Outright victors for constable nominations are Joe Backus 142 votes, Jim Knapp 114, and Jim English 110.

Incumbent treasurer Richard Wooley was toppled by Frank Kramer who pooled 97 votes to Wooley's 85. Other Republican candidates had no opposition: Allan Boyd, supervisor; John Payne, clerk, and Paul Brodbeck, trustee; only Democratic nominees are Ray Woollet, treasurer, and Thad Breland, constable.

CHIKAMING

Incumbent Republican Trustee Clarence J. O'Grady, a 14-year board member, was a loser by three votes in his bid for renomination. Delmore J. Meier won the berth with 125 votes to 122 for O'Grady and 59 for Bert Granke. Other Republican nominees without opposition: Supervisor — Herbert Seeder; clerk — Lena Abrahamson; treasurer — Virginia Sperry; constable — Floyd Perham.

Democrats filed only a partial slate: Supervisor — Grant W. Erickson; treasurer — Elmer W. Scheer; trustee — John Simovic.

COLOMA

Supervisor Roger Carter sailed along at the top of the Republican ticket unopposed, but nominations for three other township offices were contested.

Incumbent Clerk Roy Martin defeated Richard Eastman, 359 to 57; Incumbent trustee John Forris was a resounding winner in a three-way race for one berth as trustee with 258 votes to 68 for Jack Collinson and 59 for Jerry Clements.

Six candidates vied for four constable nominations: Herman Vollrath, 348; Harold Nitz, 341; William Tabbert, 283; Bill Backus, Jr., 243; Walter Salezman, 146; Charles Nollon, 93.

They should breeze in November as Democrats failed to field a slate.

BUCHANAN

Incumbent Trustee Glenn Kinney was renominated, 86 votes to 13 for challenger Ralph Hess. It was the only issue as other Republicans were unopposed and the Democrats didn't get up a ticket.

Other GOP nominees: Ivan Price, supervisor; Clayton Spaulding, clerk; Ruth Rose, treasurer; Eugene Aalts, Galen Weaver, Larry D. Gardiner, Edwin Dulis, constables.

VAN BUREN RACES

Two Supervisors
Defeat Challengers

Two supervisors stood off township primary election challenges yesterday in Van Buren county.

Kenneth Judd won out in a three-way race in Arlington township and James Wellington took the Columbia township nomination from one opponent. Both won by substantial margins.

At least seven other nominations were contested in four other townships.

ARLINGTON

BANGOR — In Arlington township, incumbent supervisor Kenneth Judd won the nomination for re-election and James McLarty was nominated as candidate for trustee in two three-way races under the Republican banner.

Judd knocked off opponents Ejner Peterson and John Taylor with a 249, 86 and 25 vote respectively.

McLarty pulled 159 votes to beat opponents Arthur L. Freese, 79, and Harold Hemmingsway, 81, for the trustee nomination.

Incumbents Harold Freestone, clerk, and Rudolph Hay, treasurer, were nominated without opposition.

COLUMBIA

BREEDSVILLE — The contest in Columbia township for the nomination as Republican candidate for supervisor was settled yesterday when James Wellington polled 104 votes to defeat Zigmund Grzybowski, who drew 20 votes for the party nod.

Other Republicans nominated were Kenneth Hodgman, clerk; Donald Landeck, treasurer; Vern Kreiger and John R. Williams, trustees; and Michael Mirabella constable.

Democrats nominated were Bernard Johnson, supervisor; Frances Kopp, clerk; and Robert J. Johnson, constable.

COVERT

COVERT — Democratic incumbents won nomination in three races for Covert township offices in yesterday's primary.

F.B. Hoffacker defeated Monica Heurich 208 in 133 for the clerk's nomination; Treasurer Umbanhowar won her nomination for re-election to the Bangor township board yesterday a 141 to 107 vote. Her opponent was Dorothy Houdek.

Unopposed Republican candidates nominated were incumbents E. Paul Overton, supervisor; Roger Thomas, clerk; and Alfred Wood, trustee.

BANGOR

SOUTH HAVEN — Ivan Joe Clark yesterday defeated Frank Wiacek 62 to 46 for the Republican nomination for Geneva township trustee.

It was the only battle among township candidates.

Unopposed Republican candidates were Erwin Krader, incumbent supervisor; Fred Riemer, clerk; Ray C. White, incumbent treasurer; and Orlo Monk, Eugene P. Fellows, Charles Lull and Robert Oxley, constables.

PINE GROVE

GRAND JUNCTION—The 12th annual Grand Junction blueberry festival will be held Saturday from 1 to 7 p.m. in the annex of the First Congregational church. The festival is sponsored by the Ladies Congregational Guild. The guild members will each bake eight blueberry pies, "like mother used to bake," and other blueberry pastry of their choice. Sandwiches and beverages will also be available. The bazaar will feature items that the guild members have made in their spare time. Proceeds from the festival are earmarked for the re-roofing fund of the church.

Governor Of Idaho Is Loser

Conservative Unseats Incumbent

From Associated Press

In addition to the Michigan battle between G. Mennen Williams and Jerome Cavanagh, primary contests in Idaho and Kansas captured national attention.

State Sen. Don Samuelson upset Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and then James B. Pearson and Gov. William H. Avery won re-nomination in the Kansas Republican primary.

Idaho's Samuelson, who piled up steady pluralities in most of the state's 44 counties, was backed by the party's more conservative elements in his race against Smylie.

Although Smylie campaigned for Goldwater in 1964, he called for reorganization of the party after the overwhelming Goldwater defeat and is considered a moderate. The governor has been in office since 1954.

Despite the heavy intraparty political overtones, the main issues in the campaign were Smylie's 12-year tenure as governor and a 3 per cent sales tax enacted by the State Legislature at his request.

Republican Sen. Len B. Jordan had no opposition in the Idaho primary and will face former congressman Ralph Harding in the November election.

KANSAS RACE

Pearson, 46, who will now make his first run for a full Senate term, also was endorsed by the party's conservative leaders in his Kansas race against Ellsworth, 40, who won election to the House six years ago.

While in Congress, Ellsworth was identified with the moderate wing of the Republican party. He trailed Pearson closely in early returns but soon fell about 20,000 votes behind.

Pearson will face former Congressman J. Floyd Breding, who won an easy victory in the Kansas Democratic senatorial primary.

Gov. Avery, who declared his margin of victory exceeded his highest hopes, will face Robert Docking, Arkansas City banker, in the November Kansas gubernatorial election. Avery ran far in front of Dell Crozier of Wichita.

In Missouri, three incumbent congressmen won re-nomination in contests: Democrats Richard H. Ichord of the 6th District and Paul C. Jones of the 10th District and Republican Durward G. Hall of the 7th District.

Robert L. Sharp won the nomination in the 15th District Republican primary race and will face veteran Democratic incumbent Rep. Frank Karsten, who had no primary opposition.

State Auditor Haskell Holman easily won Democratic re-nomination in the only state-wide race in Missouri.

AROUND STATE

All Incumbents Win Congress Nominations

DETROIT (AP)—All of the 18 Michigan congressmen seeking re-nomination were successful Tuesday, as moderates whipped conservative opponents in at least two primary clashes.

Returns were still fragmentary from the third GOP moderate-conservative test in districts where the party is mounting strong challenges to freshmen Democrats.

Democratic Rep. Lucien Nedzi, of Detroit, the incumbent facing the strongest primary test, outdistanced former Rep. Harold Ryan in a race where Nedzi's support of open occupancy housing was the key issue.

State Sen. Guy Vanderjagt of Cadillac handily the Republican nomination and favorite's role for November in the 9th district of northwestern Michigan, only district without an incumbent.

'MODERATES' WIN

The moderate-conservative battles were in the 2nd, 3rd and 18th districts.

State Sen. Garry Brown of Schoolcraft overwhelmed Merle Augustine of Battle Creek by a 3-to-1 margin in the south Michigan 3rd. He will challenge freshman Paul Todd of Kalamazoo.

State Rep. Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor led by more than 1,000 votes over former Rep. George Meader in the 2nd district with returns nearly complete.

The winner will face freshmen Weston Vivian.

Off-times candidate Richard Kuhn, a conservative, led in fragmentary returns over Jack McDonald, former Wayne County board of supervisors chairman, in the 19th.

In each of the three districts, the combined Republican vote topped the vote for the unopposed incumbent.

Thirteen of 18 incumbents were unopposed. Four others, Reps. Martha Griffiths, Charles Diggs, Raymond Cleveland and William D. Ford, all Democrats, smothered their opponents.

Nedzi had a tougher fight but led Ryan by a 3-to-2 margin.

Vanderjagt was a surprising easy winner at nearly 3-to-1 over Grand Haven businessman Edward Meany in a three-way test, even beating Meany in Meany's home county of Otsego.

Republican Sen. Len B. Jordan had no opposition in the Idaho primary and will face former congressman Ralph Harding in the November election.

Gov. Avery, who declared his margin of victory exceeded his highest hopes, will face Robert Docking, Arkansas City banker, in the November Kansas gubernatorial election. Avery ran far in front of Dell Crozier of Wichita.

State Auditor Haskell Holman easily won Democratic re-nomination in the only state-wide race in Missouri.

Gov. Avery, who declared his margin of victory exceeded his highest hopes, will face Robert Docking, Arkansas City banker, in the November Kansas gubernatorial election. Avery ran far in front of Dell Crozier of Wichita.

In Missouri, three incumbent congressmen won re-nomination in contests: Democrats Richard H. Ichord of the 6th District and Paul C. Jones of the 10th District and Republican Durward G. Hall of the 7th District.

Robert L. Sharp won the nomination in the 15th District Republican primary race and will face veteran Democratic incumbent Rep. Frank Karsten, who had no primary opposition.

LUCKY LITTLE LAD: Wayne Scouton, 18 months old, looks a bit perplexed now, but when he grows up he can consider himself a very lucky lad. He was born in Towanda, Pa., with phenylketonuria (PKU), a strange ailment which can cause mental retardation unless treatment is begun during the first weeks of life. He is the first child in which PKU has been detected under the state's testing system. A sister with PKU died at 10 without ever walking or talking.

Attempted Murder Is Charged

Pointed, Threw Gun, Police Say

Daniel McArthur Williams, 24, Paw Paw lake, demanded an examination Tuesday when arraigned in Benton Harbor Municipal court on charges of assault with intent to commit murder and attempted murder.

Municipal Judge E. Elmer Forhan set the bond at $10,000 and scheduled the examination for Aug. 11. The charges were listed in separate counts in one warrant authorized by Berrien Prosecutor John T. Hammond.

They stemmed from allegations that Williams pointed a gun at a service station manager, then threw the weapon at the man during flight from police.

FOURTH ESCAPES

Williams was arrested with two companions, while a fourth man was reported to have escaped.

Arrested with Williams were Weldon Thomas Fossey, 22, Katz apartments, Paw Paw lake; and Norman L. Rogers, 22, Red Arrow highway.

All three demanded examinations when arraigned on charges of possession of burglary tools, carrying concealed weapons and carrying an unlicensed rifle in a motor vehicle. The rifle charge is a misdemeanor, while the other charges are felonies, Judge Forhan said.

Bonds totaling $7,100 each were set for Fossey and Rogers, while bonds set for Williams totaled $17,100.

Benton Harbor Det. Neil Teske said the three were arrested when they returned an Avis rental auto to the Downtown Shell station for gasoline. They rented the auto at the station from Jaskiewicz.

The assault with intent to commit murder and attempted murder charges stemmed from allegations that Williams pointed and tossed the gun at Jaskiewicz.

Teske said Jaskiewicz would not sign a complaint against Williams. The detective said he signed the complaint.

The three were arrested after Jaskiewicz was requested to justify policy if they returned with an auto. They are also charged with possession of stolen property in warrants held by South Haven state police. Teske said all three will be returned to Van Buren county for examinations.
